NOW-NOW-NOW

Such readership compliments what we here try to do. Just as we think ability to read, speak and listen are critical to understanding, we believe the newspaper is, by these continuing votes of confidence, the "marketplace in print", of news, of people and ideas.

Counting Continues For Census

"Counting Countians" for the 1970 United States Census continues and enumerators report everything going smoothly so far.

First reports from census takers to crew leaders indicate good cooperation from residents. "Most people have their forms filled out when we get there," the census takers reported.

Mrs. J. Estel Johnston of Rockdale and Mrs. Edwin Lehman of Buckholts, county census crew leaders, said it will take about two or three weeks for the enumerators to complete calls to all households in their areas.

Additional census forms are available for persons who have lost or misplaced theirs, Mrs. Johnston said. The enumerators are also trained to assist in filling out the questionnaires.

Call-backs will be made if no one is at home the first time the census taker comes by.

The census forms were mailed to householders on March 28, with instructions to answer the questions and hold the form until a census taker calls for it.

Official enumerators are identified by a red, white and blue card worn, and a blue and white portfolio containing supplies.

DICUSSION is serious, spirited, in first session of Teen Coffee House Friday evening at the Katacomb Club. The coffee House will be open to all teenagers grades 9 through 12 for weekly, life oriented, discussions.

Minister Opens Teen Discussions

A coffee house is a place for free dialogue - and that was the happening at the Katacomb Teen Club Friday night.

It was the first coffee house session for the teen club, and a giant step toward a meeting place where teenagers can talk out the things that confront them in life.

Spark for the coffee house addition to the local teen club is Rev. H. J. Swink, pastor of First Christian Church. It is the fourth one he has started. The first in Dublin, Texas, started with about 10 teenagers, grew to an average attendance of 75 and is still going strong after 7 years.

Goal for the weekly sessions is expression through dialogue, art, music, and drama. The range of subjects is unlimited - education, racial problems, war, standards of success, the church, politics - all directed at the individuals understanding of his surroundings.

Rev. Swink described the coffee house as life oriented, the conversations dynamic and exciting. "I've seen dramatic things result from coffee house sessions," he said. "Kids who felt bitter because of social or family problems came to see themselves as individuals without limitations."

"The coffee house is not church oriented," he explained, "but it is theology and life oriented. Many kids who had lost interest in their churches gained new understanding through the coffee house and new interest in their church relationship."

"Dances are fine, Rev. Swink said, "but many teen clubs fail because they offer nothing but music. They are like a vacuum." The coffee house adds the element of purpose.

The weekly dialogues are open to all young people grades 9 through 12. Unless Cameron is an exception, it will be a weekly attraction to a large group of teenagers.

Rev. Swink said the coffee house idea is catching on across the nation. Following a seminar he headed at TCU last year a coffee house opened in Brownsville. He said it had a small start in a Brownsville Baptist Church. It now attracts about 500.

At the opening session Friday, participants created an individual in a collage, then described the individuals feelings and reactions in small group discussions.

Next session, the participants will create themselves with bottles and scraps, and again break into small discussion groups.

The third week will be a session to put what they have discussed into dramatic form through music and verse. Presentation of the results will be the fourth session. Then the group will begin again with new discussion direction.

Meeting with the teenagers Friday were Rev. Swink, Mrs. Charles Hensley, Rev. Wirt Skinner and Bob Carney. The next session will be 6:30 p.m. Thursday at the teen center.

RTA TO MEET HERE APRIL 20

The recently organized Milam County Retired Teachers Association will meet Monday, April 20 at 3 p.m. in the First National Bank meeting room.

Mrs. Leona G. White is president of the county unit.

Light Vote Seen In City Election

'Goals' Committee Names Caperton

N. L. Caperton, Cameron postmaster, has been appointed co-chairman of the government category of a Task Force advisory group within the Central Texas Planning Region.

A release from the Executive Department in Austin Friday said Caperton has accepted appointment as co-chairman of the government category to organize committees to discuss issues and propose answers in the six-county Cen-Tex Region. It includes Mills, Hamilton, Coryell, Lampasas, Bell and Milam Counties.

The release said: "Technically speaking, the current study by committees in each of the State's 21 planning regions is Phase II of "Goals for Texas," inaugurated by Governor Preston Smith and administered by the Dividsion of Planning Coordination in the Governor's Office.

The 10 categories under projection in Phase I by State agencies are: Education, the economy, general government, health, housing, human resources, recreation and open space, public protection and transportation.

Committees of professionals and laymen would review regional problems in these 10 areas of "Goals for Texas" and recommend solutions to the Governor.

Caperton said those interested in serving on the government or any other committees should contact him or Charles Cass, executive director of the Central Texas Council of Governments.

Governor Smith is pledged to consider both regional and statewide recommendations in drawing up a budget for the 71st session of the Texas Legislature.

"Pinpointing problems and making statements of goals do not guarantee solutions, but they do provide some kind of road map for State officials. The fact that knowledgable Texans are talking together about goals signifies that many are serious about making State government more responsive to people," the Executive Department release concluded.

NFO Group Chartered

The National Farmers Organization (NFO) was organized and chartered in Milam County on Tuesday, March 31.

The members elected Frank Kratochvil chairman, Roy Schuetz, vice chairman; Kenneth Hollas, secretary; and John Roy Zajicek treasurer.

Bob Arndt, from the national NFO office and Robert Meissner, area coordinator, presided over the meeting until the officers were elected.

The monthly meeting will be Tuesday, April 7 at 9 p.m. in the Yoe High Agriculture building. Members will discuss selling cotton through the NFO by collective bargaining. All members and non-member farmers are asked to attend.

SCHOLARSHIP WINNER - Paul Ray Senkel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Senkel of Cameron, is presented the K. D. Griffin Memorial Scholarship award by Mrs. Frances Baldwin while Cameron Schools Supt. D. R. Dodson looks on. Paul is attending Temple Junior College and plans to continue his education at Sam Houston State upon graduation from TJC. He is a 1969 honor graduate of Yoe High School.

Candidates For 3 Posts Unopposed

Election officials are expecting a light vote in Tuesday's city election, in which all three candidates are unopposed.

Mayor E. A. Perrin is unopposed in his candidacy for a second two-year term.

Two Councilmen's posts are up for election. Incumbent Lester Turner is the candidate for Place 1, and Monroe Fuchs, Cameron businessman, is the only candidate for Place 2.

Polls will be open at City Hall from 8 a.m. until 7 p.m. B. J. Matocha is election judge.

Votes will be canvassed by the City Council at a regular meeting Tuesday night after polls are closed.

Voting records for the past four years show light votes in city elections when candidates have no opponents.

One of the smallest turnouts in city history was recorded in 1967, when just 93 votes were cast. The count jumped to 1207 in 1968 when Mayor Perrin defeated the incumbent mayor, Bassel Wilson.

In 1966, about 130 votes were cast, and last year, 113.

All registered voters who live within the city limits of Cameron are eligible to vote in the Tuesday election. Residency requirements include one year in Texas and six months in the city.

No. 1 Gospel Singers In Milano Show

The Stamps Quartet and J. D. Sumner, known as Mr. Bass of gospel singers, will headline a concert at Milano High School gymnasium, Thursday, April 16.

Others on the program of gospel singing are Don Sumner, Jim Hill, Jimmy Blackwood, Tony Brown and Duke Thomas.

Advance tickets for the 8 p.m. concert are 50 cents for students and $1.50 or adults. Prices will be slightly higher if bought at the door. Proceeds will go to the Milano Booster Club.

The Stamps Quartet, organized in 1924 with the motto "Give the World a Smile Each Day," is one of the most raveled gospel singing groups in the United States. Sumner, manager of the quartet and soloist, is also owner of the Blackwood Brothers Enterprises.

BURGLAR ENJOYS ILLICIT SNACK

An intruder who reportedly entered Garcia's Place on South Travis St. early Wednesday morning apparently enjoyed a snack during his visit.

Police reported that the man was seen "staggering around" in back of the place about 8 a.m. Wednesday. Investigating officer Sgt. Felipe Martinez found the man in an outdoor restroom with cash, cigarettes, and several items of clothing.

Inside, remains of a half-gallon jar of pickled pigs feet and numerous empty beer bottles were found, and police speculated the man had a snack "on the house."

WORSHIP IN CHURCH

of course it is, but it brings with it a staggering challenge... the individual responsibility of helping save civilization. The terrible "dark days" following the fall of the Roman Empire would be termed "good days" compared to the period of destruction that would follow the loosing of our hydrogen weapons. We must face it. In a manner we must be our own saviour. Then let us kids not quibble.
We must cheerfully accept the task. If we keep our eyes fixed on God and our ears tuned-in to His direction center, we can be the deterring force He needs to save the world from destruction. For He said, "Him that lacketh wisdom, let him ask of God." The varied programs of the church offer opportunity to gain this wisdom and understanding of God and His plan of salvation for the world. You have a part to play. Get inside His field of service... attend church regularly.
For, "The wise in heart will receive Commandments."
You In The Church
The Church in You
— form a combination for good. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us support her program of service to humanity, be a faithful worker, a daily bible reader and attend services regularly.

For Bob Armstrong . . . .

The Cameron Herald endorses the candidacy of Austin's Bob Armstrong for land commissioner of Texas.

It is time such a young, capable public servant assume the responsibilities of Texas Land Commissioner abandoned in controversy by the incumbent.

Main thing about Armstrong is he has an alternative for the modern role for the office he seeks. Armstrong, a state representative with all kinds of honors behind him, at 37 is a conservationist. Texas' shoreline and its land resources need a viewpoint of conservation amidst littering and obliterating the landscape.

We cast our ballot for young, capable Bob Armstrong. . .and so do these Texas dailies, among others:

Armstrong Fine Candidate

Rep. Bob Armstrong's announcement that he will be a candidate for commissioner of the General Land Office in 1970 offers the public the first real choice for that office since 1960. It is the choice between a fresh, open, energetic, progressive approach to the office and the musty, secrecy-ridden approach of the incumbent. A choice, in short, between youthful vigor and old age.

Although he is only 37 years old, Armstrong is no stranger to politics. He is now completing his third term as a state representative from Austin. He is a lawyer with an established practice, who has associated himself with progressive legislation for Texans as a whole, not just his Austin constituency.

Armstrong believes that the General Land Office can become a force for preserving the natural resources of the state by sound conservation practices. He thinks the office should lead the way, not remain moribund and dormant, while the wave of the future passes over it.

Armstrong is especially critical of the traditional secrecy which has surrounded the General Land Office and its operations. He proposes that this important office, dealing in millions of dollars for oil, gas and sulphur leases of public school lands, should be operated as an open book. He believes that the public is entitled to know what goes on in that office, and that representatives of the press and television should be kept informed of its activities.

Just as important, Armstrong believes that the commissioner of the General Land Office should be a full-time job. The commissioner draws a salary of $26,000 a year and should devote full time to his duties.

We believe that Armstrong is highly qualified to serve as commissioner of the General Land Office.

THE CORPUS CHRISTI CALLER-TIMES

For Land Commissioner

BOB ARMSTRONG, candidate for the Democratic nomination for the office of Commissioner of the Texas General Land Office, has had educational training and legislative experience that recommend him to the voter.

Armstrong won scholastic, citizenship and athletic awards at Austin High School. He then majored in government at the University of Texas, was on active duty with the U.S. Navy after waiving a medical exemption, and returned to the University of Texas to be graduated from the law school.

Private law practice for three years was followed by Armstrong's appointment as an assistant attorney general for the State of Texas. He then returned to private practice.

In 1963 Armstrong won a race for the Texas House of Representatives against 13 Democrats and one Republican. He was reelected for three more terms without opposition.

In the Texas Legislature, he served on the Education, Judiciary, Aeronautics, Public Lands and Buildings, Insurance and Motor Transportation committees.

Critical of the secrecy that has surrounded the operations of the General Land Office, Armstrong will operate this important office openly if elected. He has pledged to devote full time to the job and to keep the press and public informed as to the handling of millions of dollars in funds. Armstrong also will follow sound conservation practices to protect the resources of Texas for future generations.

Armstrong's record of public service and his views as to the operation of the General Land Office are sound. They contrast with those of the present holder of this position, who has not conducted himself with the dignity which Texans have a right to expect of state officials.

The News recommends Bob Armstrong for the Democratic nomination as Commissioner of the General Land Office.

THE DALLAS MORNING NEWS

Armstrong Good Alternative

THIS COULD be the year in which Texans finally decide to put their sorriest holder of Statewide public office out to pasture.

That could be none other than Jerry Sadler, who has had 10 long years as Commissioner of the General Land Office. Voters have not been too disturbed in the past because of his snuff-dipping, clownish antics, neglect of Land Office business and use of State employes for personal gain. The voters have in other cases been notoriously lenient toward "corn-pone" politicians.

However, they need to take a good, hard look this time. Sadler's performance in the strange Gulf Coast sunken treasure case indicates why. He was foolish enough to make an illegal contract with an Indiana treasure-hunting firm, while playing games with valuable artifacts.

The Legislature last year took the unusual step of giving him a reprimand. He was charged with refusing to cooperate with Legislative committees. This, however, was not the only time he took the position that the way he runs the Land Office is none of he public's business.

He has grown worse, in recent years, about denying access to public records to persons legally qualified to examine them. He's 61 years old, but that hasn't kept him from assaulting a member of the Legislature and a news cameraman.

A cure is offered. He's State Rep. Bob Armstrong of Austin. At 37, Armstrong is in his third House term. He is no eccentric. He understands why the Land Office, which deals in millions of dollars for, oil, gas and sulphur leases of public school lands, should be operated in full public view, not as a private preserve.

The Land Office controls, directly or indirectly, one-eighth of the land area of Texas. Armstrong wants the office to take a significant role in environmental improvement.

Armstrong further has pledged that he will put in full time at the job. Sadler has spent weeks at a time outside Austin on personal business.

The voters have an opportunity to make a splendid trade.

PITFALLS IN A HOMEMADE WILL

People who make their own wills often create disputes that only costly litigation can settle. Consider this one:

"Terrell Tex Jan 12—1950

"this Letter is Written With the idea that Some thing might happen to me. that I would be wiped out Suddenly if this Should Happen my business would be in awful shape no relatives, nobody to do a thing So, this is written to try to have my affairs wound up in a reasonable way in case of my Sudden Death. Would Like to have all of my affairs, Cash all assets including any Bank Balance turned over to Parties named below With out any Bond or any Court action that can be avoided. they to wind up my affairs in any way they See fit.

U. C. Boyles Refrigeration Supply Co. Charlie Hill Superior Ice Co

Should these Gentleman need a third man Would Suggest Walker. National Bank of Commerce Each of these Gentleman to receive $500.00 for his Services

I have tried to make my wishes plain. Of course these Crooked Lawyers Would want a Lot of Whereas and Wherefores included in this.

not much in favor of the organized Charities they are too Cold blooded also not much in Favor of any person over 21 — Benefitting by my Kick off unless there is a good reason am inclined to play the children they are not Responsible for being here and cant help themselves have Let this Letter get cold and Read it again—to See if it Seemed abut Right dont See much wrong except no wheres and Wherefores — excuse me

"Terrell — Feb. 7 — 1950

Lon Gresham"

This "will" was in the courts for many years and was heard twice by the Supreme Court of Texas. Several courts were undecided about whether this was a will but finally held it was.

Another writing was also found by the court to be a will:

"May 25, 1958

In case of death all cash and propity in Tex. go's to Alice. the balance of propity all my airs. Gen Gavine, Richard, Dalene. Alice also get car and Household goods. Richard also gets the machinery.

Bert Wieneke"

WAS IT SIGNED PROPERLY?

One of the dangers of a will written without professional advice is that the maker may not know the legal requirements for a valid will. If these requirements are not followed, the writing will not be a valid will.

WHERE IS THE WILL; WHERE ARE THE WITNESSES?

One of the reasons for executing a will in a lawyer's office is that he provides witnesses who are not likely to move away and who will be available when they are needed. He will keep a copy of the will in his office to use if the original will is ever lost.

Texas has the best probate system in the United States known as the "independent administration." The estate can be handled by the person named in the will completely free of court control.

To get this advantage, proper words must be in the will. Homemade wills seldom contain the proper words. A person making his own will may also not know to say that a bond is not required. If he doesn't put this in, a bond must be put up with the court — at the cost of the estate.

IS IT CLEAR?

If a will states, "I give $25,000 to my three sons," does he mean $25,000 to be divided among the three, or does it mean $25,000 to each? If it says, "I give all my land in Harris County to my daughter," and the land has a mortgage on it, does the daughter have to pay the mortgage or is it paid off by the estate?

Does the statement, "I leave the money on deposit at the Fourth National Bank to my nephew" mean the money on deposit when the will was made (say $1,000) or when the person died (say $25,000)?

What if the will says: "I give my business to my brother." Does he get the accounts receivables, the inventories, the cash in the bank? Does he also get the land on which the business is located?

Many important matters are often overlooked in the homemade will.

Does it say what to do about death taxes due on a life insurance policy? Without the insurance, the estate may be quite small, but the insurance policy may cause the estate to have to pay an estate tax. Who should pay the tax on the insurance — the person who gets the insurance or the person who gets the estate under the will?

The self-made will may fail to name a second person to handle the estate if the one first named can't serve. This often causes the estate much trouble in court.

SUMMARY

An inexperienced person should not attempt to make his own will. This kind of will causes lawsuits, high costs of probate. Will making should be done by the family lawyer.

NEXT: A good will is essential where separate and community properties are concerned.

CAMERON'S PARADE OF SPORTS

1958 Cameron Merchants

The 1958 Cameron Merchants team was a member of the Cen-Tex League, composed of six teams. Other members of the League were Killeen, Temple, Pendleton, Westphalia, and Seaton. The Cameron Merchants were sponsored and outfitted by the business men of Cameron. Team members played because they just like to play baseball. Scores of various games within the League are not available but in the playoff with Temple the Merchants won two trophies: second place trophy and the Sportsman trophy which was highly prized. According to Mr. "Buck" Wilkinson, the going was pretty rough because in the final playoff, they played one game in the afternoon, another the next morning, and the final game that same afternoon.

State To Auction Surplus

AUSTIN

Homer A. Foerster, Executive Director of the State Board of Control, announced today that the State's first public auction of surplus property would be held Saturday, April 25, in Austin's City Coliseum.

"In the past, surplus items have been sold on a sealed bid basis. Other states have tried public auction sales with great success, and we feel that such a venture will be successful in Texas," Foerster said.

Items to be sold at auction include 106 cars from the Department of Public Safety and 12 cars and 10 pickup trucks from the Parks and Wildlife Department.

Other items include outboard motors, two - way radios, and other equipment from Parks and Wildlife; office equipment from the Highway Department and Board of Cosmetology, and draperies and a rug formerly in the Governor's Office.

Foerster said the Board of Control has contracted with Nelson Auction Service International of Dallas to conduct the sale.

Surplus equipment will be available for inspection beginning at 8 a.m., with the auction to start at 10 a.m.

Teens' View
New Americans

(Ed note: The following is the last in a series of essays by Yoe High School juniors. They are presented as an insight into the thinking of their generation in a time of restlessness and quest for change.)

By Gary Brantley

The United States is thought of as the greatest, wealthiest, and most sophisticated civilization ever to flourish on our world.

It is the center of scientific achievement in the world. America was the first nation to land a man on another heavely body. The United States has the greatest educational system in the world. The list of achievements could go for some length.

Even in the face of such greatness, there are those who repeatedly predict that the end is near for America. They say that she will fall as a result of her own greatness, as in the fall of the Roman Empire. These foretellers of doom say that the people of the United States will become so soft and apathetic that our great civilization will crumble from within.

Pick any newspaper on any day and you will find reports of violence, corruption, demonstrations, crime.

Listen to any newscast and you will hear more of the same.

The crime rate is higher in the United States now than any other time. People are afraid to walk the streets near their homes. Blacks and whites trade accusations and insults and many speak of racial civil war. Words such as 'pot', 'grass', 'LSD', 'psychedelic', 'hippies', 'trip', 'uptight' are now household words.

Even with all the change and differences, America is still a great and wealthy nation.

It now appears that the United States is heading for a slight economic recession. Nobody can tell whether or not it will be so great as to seriously affect our nation. A new decade is opening for us. Many people say that this new decade will belong to the young of today. They say that it will depend on the "now" generation.

What do people think of when the youth of today are mentioned?

Most of them think of the hippies, young black militants, drug addicts, protestors, demonstrators, the SDS and other disreputable segments of our youth. They seldom look at the brighter side of this generation.

As a whole they are brighter students than their parents. They see the corruption and wrong in much of the "Establishment" and seek to change it. These young people have the courage to speak out against what they believe is wrong and stand up for what they think is right. They are striving for individuality and freedom of expression in whatever form.

This generation will someday be leading and governing the United States. They have clearly expressed their wishes to better the nation and living conditions of all Americans. The youth of today will grow up and accept the responsibilities cast on them.

They will find fault with the generation after them but the faults will never seem as bad as we may think. No American generation has ever made serious mistakes and nearly any era of American history is marked by great achievements.

Our generation will have a chance to change the world for the better, all on our own, in a few years.

If the true test of a civilization is the kind of man that it turns out, then America should pass with flying colors in the future.

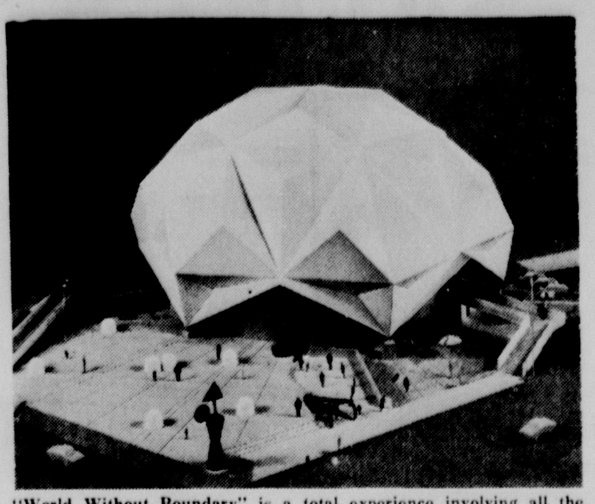
YESTERDAY AND TOMORROW

NEW YORK (ED)—An ancient land will have a new outlook this spring. The Kansai district has been the cradle of Japanese culture for more than a thousand years, but this March, the Senri Hills will offer a view of the future as EXPO '70 opens its gates in Osaka.

EXPO '70 is the first world exposition to be held in the Orient, and more than 70 nations, numerous private corporations, states and provinces have joined the Japanese government in promoting the general theme of Progress and Harmony for Mankind. The entire Exposition will give the visitor a feeling of what life in the future will be like—the homes, cities and amusements of tomorrow.



"World Without Boundary" is a total experience involving all the senses. The visitor will find himself in his own time and space. Highlight of the pavilion is a 90-foot, 210° spherical mirror that reflects images as if they were suspended in space.

Osaka Castle, built late in 16th Century, is only one of the many landmarks the visitor can enjoy.

Expanding on the central theme, many of the more than 100 pavilions are concentrating on man's progress—past, present and future. The Ontario pavilion thematically depicts "Progress to the Year 2000," and the Czechoslovakian pavilion centers around "Man and Time." A "World Without Boundary" is the theme of the Pepsi-Cola pavilion where the visitor is encouraged to create his own sensory experiences while wandering through the dome shaped building. One of the many unique aspects of the Pepsi pavilion is a cloud bank that surrounds the building at all times, giving it a mysterious air. Moving roads, a toy land of robots, live performances and much more will make EXPO '70 an experience not to be missed, or forgotten.

In contrast to EXPO '70 and its view of the future, is the area surrounding Osaka, host city for the Exposition. Osaka is known as the "Venice of the Orient," and the neighboring cities of Nara and Kyoto take the visitor back in history. From pagodas to Geisha houses to imperial palaces, the Kansai district is the cultural heart of ancient Japan. The futuristic world of EXPO is part of the Year of Japan, but any visitor should take the time to view the past, as well as the exciting possibilities to come.

Christian Church Sets Assembly

FORT WORTH

Is there a place for sex education in the church? What options do young men have regarding the draft? Can a Christian be successful in business?

These are among the questions that will be discussed in two dozen "Practicing Christianity" groups during the 83rd assembly of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) in Texas here, April 15-18.

Other topics of the simultaneous Thursday afternoon, April 16, sessions range from "Prayer" to "Overcoming Bureaucratic Red Tape in the Church" and from "Flowers of the Bible" to "The Drug Scene."

General sessions of the assembly, expected to draw approximately 2,500 voting and non-voting representatives, will be held in the Theatre of the Tarrant County Convention Center. Most of the PC groups will meet at the nearby First Christian Church.

VA Explains Discharges

The Veterans Administration has moved to clear up misconceptions about two types of military discharges.

Citing the problem, Administrator of Veterans Affairs Donald E. Johnson said today that misunderstanding about the differences between "honorable" and "general" discharge certify dates are causing some veterans unjustified difficulties.

"Actually, both types of separation are completely acceptable for veterans benefits," Johnson explained.

The VA chief said some ex-servicemen have reported trouble obtaining employment after showing potential employers their general discharge certificates.
